I find warmth in many things . . .

some of them I cannot keep,
only touch or have them
touch me.

The infrequent peace a lonely heart may find . . .

is lost all too soon in hell.

Things that last forever cannot be found . . .

they linger only till the next thought comes rushing in.

Shout with me. Laugh with me. This is a part of living.

EDUCATION

Administration And Faculty

Administration, the oldest building on campus, provides office space for professors and most of the classrooms for the Arts and Sciences, Education and Business Administration Colleges and the C.C.S. It is from here that educational growth starts. To many people, this is UNO.

Merger Broadens Administration

The merger brought many changes to the University of Nebraska at Omaha. UNO President, Dr. Kirk E. Naylor, and the UNO administrators work with the Lincoln-based Regents and Chancellor and with the Governor and the Legislature to determine the course of higher education in the nation's twentieth largest university. TOP RIGHT: Nebraska Governor Norbert Tiemann at the NU-OU merger ceremonies. TOP LEFT: Regents are, ROW ONE: President B. N. Greenberg, J. G. Elliott and Edward Schwartzkopf. ROW TWO: Robert L. Raun, Richard E. Adkins and Richard L. Herman. BOTTOM: Chancellor Clifford M. Hardin at the groundbreaking ceremonies for the Science Building. ACROSS: UNO President Kirk E. Naylor discusses administrative policy.

Arts And Sciences College Boasts Largest Faculty

The College of Arts and Sciences offers work toward the degree of Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Fine Arts, Bachelor of Music and Bachelor of Science, as well as pre-professional programs for medicine, law and theology students. The College offers academic majors in art, biology, chemistry, economics, English, foreign languages, geography, history, journalism, mathematics, music, philosophy, physics, political science, psychology, sociology, speech and urban studies. LEFT: Many students see the Administration Building cupola from the rear parking lot. TOP: Dr. Robert D. Harper, Dean of the College, heads the largest faculty on campus. ACROSS TOP CENTER: Speech and Drama Department chairman, Dr. J. K. Brillhart, must cross the campus from his classes in the Administration Building to his office in the temporary buildings. ACROSS TOP RIGHT: Dr. Hugh P. Cowdin is the new department chairman in journalism. ACROSS BOTTOM: English 109 instructors receive encouragement and discuss problems at bi-weekly meetings.

Degrees Offered In Engineering

The College of Engineering and Technology offers Bachelor of Science degrees in civil engineering, general engineering, industrial engineering and industrial technology. The College also offers well planned two-year programs leading to Associate degrees in engineering technology. The program includes the Department of Nursing and the Technical Institute. TOP LEFT: Miss Dorothy Patach, head of the Nursing Department, works with nursing students in the lab. TOP RIGHT: Dr. Anson D. Marston, Dean of the Engineering College, studies a map of the area. BOTTOM: Mr. Jack Titus teaches an engineering class. ACROSS: Technical Institute students learn the art of surveying.

Educators Prepared

The purposes of the College of Education are to provide for the education of students who are preparing to teach, to contribute to the improvement of skills and understandings of educators seeking professional growth and to provide educational services to agencies and personnel that are cooperating with the schools and educational institutions. The College offers teaching preparation in business education, elementary education, guidance, physical education for men and women, library science, recreation education, school administration, secondary education and special education. ACROSS TOP: A graduate intern in special education works with a child in the Special Education Clinic. ACROSS BOTTOM: Two students in the student teacher program correct papers while waiting for conferences with their University supervisors. TOP RIGHT: Dean of the College of Education, Dr. Paul C. Kennedy, is always ready with help for education students with problems. BOTTOM: John Query, director of the Reading Improvement Lab, helps a student with one of the machines.

Business Provides Educational Variety

The College of Business Administration offers students an opportunity for a variety of areas of study for professional specialization. Business students can specialize in accounting, business administration, management and marketing. The student is given an opportunity to select individual courses in other colleges of the University so that with his specialization, he will achieve a well-balanced education. TOP: Miss Verda Rauch teaches typing. LEFT: Dr. John W. Lucas, Dean of the College. TOP CENTER: Business student studies shorthand. TOP RIGHT: Dr. Carl W. Helmstadter, Professor Emeritus in accounting. RIGHT: A Catholic sister concentrates on typing.

C.C.S. Has Active Night Life

The College of Continuing Studies has achieved national recognition in the field of higher education. The Bootstrap program, serving both active duty and retired military personnel, is the largest in the country. Hundreds of men and women from every branch of the service are brought to the campus in quest of a college degree. As demands for education increase, C.C.S. provides intellectual development, vocational and professional growth and cultural enrichment for adults in the area who are completing their education in the Night School program. LEFT: Dr. William T. Utley, as Dean of C.C.S., is the academic dean of night school students who make up half the total enrollment at UNO. BOTTOM: Bootstrappers and their families enjoy an evening of recreation in the Student Center. RIGHT: Hundreds of cars bring night students to the campus.

KYNE-TV Brings ETV To Schools

KYNE-TV are the call letters of UNO's ETV Channel 26 broadcasting station. The UHF station began broadcasting on campus in the Fall of 1965. The station is operated by the Metropolitan Omaha Educational Broadcasting Association (MOEBA) and broadcasts 19 hours of kindergarten through eighth grade class work to pupils in the Omaha area.

The station also broadcasts a number of programs for the general audience, among them, "From the President's Office," a show which originates in the office of UNO President Kirk Naylor, and a show produced by the members of the Newsfilm and Documentaries class called "On Campus." This show brings news of college campuses in the area to the viewing audience. LEFT: One of the cameras used in the KYNE-TV studio. TOP: Left to right are Michael McAllister and Kathy Piccolo, students who participate in the "On Campus" broadcast; Leon Benschoter, program director of KYNE-TV and Joe McCartney, journalism faculty member who teaches the Newsfilm and Documentaries class.

UNO Prepares USAF Officers

The Department of Aerospace Studies (AFROTC) is a regular instructional department of UNO and functions under the rules and policies of the University and the USAF. The department is designed to develop the skills and attitudes vital to the professional Air Force officer. Upon graduation from the university, the cadets are commissioned Second Lieutenants, USAF Reserve. RIGHT: A class of AFROTC cadets. BOTTOM: The AFROTC staff gathers in Colonel James A. Connell's office.

Graduate College Offers Masters, Specialist Degrees

The Graduate College provides the opportunity, the faculty and the resources to meet the various needs of graduate students for more advanced and more specialized education than the undergraduate work upon which all graduate programs are founded. The Graduate College is destined to feel the most growth in the coming years since the merger. The college offers the Master of Arts, Master of Science, Master of Business Administration and the Specialist in Education degrees.

LEFT: Dr. Elton S. Carter is Dean of the Graduate College. BOTTOM: Graduate students receive master's degrees at the Mid-year Commencement on January 25. The Graduate College conferred seven M.A. degrees and 20 M.S. degrees.

The Gene Eppley Library offers an invitation for reading and study, filling the needs of UNO students and the Omaha community. LEFT: A student finds another use for the library. RIGHT: A co-ed finds time to relax and read. BOTTOM: Study groups are common in the library.

Faculty Senate

Established to formulate policy, the University of Nebraska's Faculty Senate presents faculty's thoughts to the administration as the Senate continues to deal with matters of faculty interest and concern.

Presiding over the Senate, Dr. John V. Blackwell coordinates the many councils and committees of the Senate.

Student Senate

The 30 members of the Student Senate serve as representatives of UNO's students in all matters of student life. Students with full-time status and of good academic standing can run for the position of Senator.

The Senate is organized with ten standing committees, one faculty and two administrative advisers.

The Executive Committee, consisting of the officers, are President Randy Owens, Vice-president Denny Jorgensen, Secretary Linda Covault and Treasurer John McGann. The advisers are Dr. Franklin S. Forbes, faculty and Deans Elizabeth Hill and Donald Pflasterer, administration.

The ten committee chairmen and part of the committeemen are Senators while remaining committee members are chosen from the student body. The ten committees are Educational Affairs, Senate Constitution, Campus Organization Constitution, Athletic Interest, Executive, Campus and Community Public Relations, Election Rules and Polls, Finance, Lincoln Liaison, and Student Affairs.

The Student Senate and SUB begin with meetings making decisions and formulating policy. Their committees carry out the routine planning that must be made in order to have results such as the Fall Night Club organized for UNO students. Others carry on the routine business such as providing calendars for the students, supervising the bulletin boards, or decorating the campus at Christmas.

Student Union Board

ROW ONE: Carol Campbell, Linda Fredrickson, Dan Darling, Bob Flood. ROW TWO: Jahn Kislin, Judy Banghart, Madeline Menke, Ann Kahse, Clark Lip-pert, Renee Halmes, Phil Vack.

Organized to provide a well-rounded program in education, recreation, and social activities for the University of Nebraska's students, the Student Union Board consists of the Executive Board and eight committees.

The Calendar and Communications Committee provides calendars for UNO students giving all forthcoming events on campus. It is also in charge of the publicity on campus.

The Concert and Lectures Committee brings a variety of interesting and informative concerts and lectures to the University.

Cindy Utterback, Suzanne Giller, Candy Griffin, Rasalyn Hammer, Cathy Burgess, DeForest Reed.

Dances, Exhibits, Films, Under SUB Control

The Dance Committee's purpose is to provide dances for UNO's student body for Homecoming, Christmas, and Ma-ie Day.

The Exhibits committee is responsible for bringing exhibits to campus which include exhibits in photography and art.

The Films committee provides films for the University's students. They show films every week during the regular school year on Monday afternoons.

The Seventh committee, the Recreation Committee of the Student Union Board, is in charge of activities on campus such as bowling, bridge, billiards, and chess.

The Special Events Committee is the final committee assisting the Executive Board in fulfilling their duties. This committee sponsors programs such as the University's College Bowl.

The July First Change Over

On July 1, 1968, the merger between the University of Omaha and the the University of Nebraska was made official in early morning ceremonies on the front steps of the Administration Building. LEFT: Several hundred people attended the event, and many more watched via educational television. BELOW LEFT: President Naylor and former Regent President Robert Spire played key roles in the transfer of power. BELOW: The Omaha press corps gave all merger related events outstanding coverage.

Elections made up the tone of most of the year. Student elections as well as national elections were part of the University's on-going processes. FAR RIGHT: Several local figures, including congressional candidate Maxine Morrison, made appearances on campus.

Joan Kennedy Visits UNO

Mrs. Edward Kennedy visited UNO on April 26, 1968 to promote the campaign of her brother-in-law, Senator Robert Kennedy. Under threatening skies Joan Kennedy spoke to approximately 100 students. The students appeared to be more concerned with catching a glimpse of the quietly attractive blonde than with hearing her expound her political views. Mrs. Kennedy encountered a problem with the microphone which was not working but the students did not seem to mind. Joan Kennedy read excerpts from her brother-in-law's speeches and issued an invitation to UNO students to meet Senator Robert Kennedy the following night and to hear him speak. She also asked for volunteers to help in the Kennedy campaign on the local level. Mrs. Kennedy was asked whether she would like to see her husband President someday, she replied, "We really haven't thought about that yet. We both want to see Bob in '68." In a short interview Mrs. Kennedy spoke of everything from family life to her trip to Omaha. She said when she married the future Senator Kennedy she didn't think that she would ever become so well-known. As a Senator's wife, she feels that her most important duties are playing hostess and keeping up on the latest news. She reads eight newspapers a day. When not politicking, Mrs. Kennedy is busy with her home and three children. Asked what she thought of UNO's campus, she smiled and said, "I like what I see."

George Wallace At UNO

On Monday, March 3, George Wallace was on campus to address Dr. Richard Marvel's 1:30 political science class. Most of the area media had representatives on campus by 1 p.m. By 1:30 about 500 persons had gathered in the parking lot outside of the Engineering Building to observe, protest, or perform in the line of duty. At 12 minutes to 2, a roar from the crowd let the class know that George Wallace had arrived on campus. Many of the crowd followed the candidate up to Engineering 259. Most were curious spectators, but some began to chant. "We got some free speech folks out here," said Wallace in an opening comment . . . laughter from the class. "If I get to be president," he said pointing a finger to the door," and one of these anarchists lays down in front of my car, it will be the last one he lays under" . . . applause from the class. In my judgement, I will capture more Omaha Democrats than Republicans, but that's only a guess." He concluded," . . . get rid of some of these brief-case totin' bureaucrats; throw some of those brief-cases in the Potomac River." Wallace left the building through a side door but some of the crowd saw him and ran at the '68 Ford containing the candidate. A half-dozen people tried to beat the rear deck of the car with their fists, but the security force cleared a path and Wallace disappeared . . . somewhat exceeding the university's 15 mile an hour speed limit. The speaker talked for 25 minutes. Dr. Marvel's 1:30 political science class broke five minutes early.

Hardin Gets Cabinet Spot

Chancellor Clifford Hardin was appointed to President Richard Nixon's cabinet, becoming the fourth Nebraskan named to a president's cabinet. Given a one-year leave from the University to accept the post, Chancellor Hardin became Secretary of Agriculture.

Visitors Come to UNO

Visiting this year at the campus was NBC doing a special report on the Nation's Colleges. NBC interviewed UNO student Joe Reiss.

Secretary of Agriculture Clifford Hardin speaks at the University's campus.

Visiting UNO's campus were numerous traveling art and photography collections. Including the theme of social comment in America, many of the individual exhibits focused on the Great Depression, the second World War, civil rights and the Vietnam war.

Greek Week

"We dare as Greeks" was the prevailing theme during February's Greek Week. Chi Omega and Lambda Chi Alpha were awarded the coveted scholarship trophies. Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity swept the Intramural championship. Individual honors for active and pledge with the highest average went to Judy Evahn and Karen Rozgall, both of Chi Omega. Pat Mullaney, Alpha Xi Delta, was named the Panhellenic Girl of the Year. Susie Haas, Chi Omega, and Doug Moss, Lambda Chi Alpha, were the Outstanding Greek Pledges for 1967-68, and James Olson received the Interfraternity Council award for high pledge average. TOP FAR LEFT: Judy Evahn TOP LEFT: Karen Rozgall LEFT CENTER: Pat Mullaney BOTTOM FAR LEFT: Susie Haas BOTTOM LEFT: Doug Moss RIGHT: Jim Olson BELOW: Bob Willits, Tom Helligso, Rich Kniewel and Herb Wehner with Pi Kap Intramural trophies.

MA-IE DAY

ATTIRA XXXIV

Ma-ie Day 68

The pie-throwers had a blast . . . but the live targets on the other end weren't so sure of the fun during the 34th annual Ma-ie Day, May 10 at the Pep Bowl. Hundreds of students flocked to the event which featured the pie-throwing and a complete fairground atmosphere. Sponsored by the Student Union Board, Ma-ie Day filled the Pep Bowl with games, eating booths, free daisies and mums, wheelbarrows, cotton candy and popcorn. Fairgoers also took advantage of student art with personal portraits sketched on the spot, and photographs taken for a small fee. Lunch was part of the celebration . . . for a meager 50 cents. As an extra attraction, a show wagon of UNO talent entertained the picnickers. Students also participated in bike and trike relay races and the winners were awarded trophies. At 2 p.m. a float and car procession left the campus for the annual Ma-ie Day Parade through downtown Omaha. Princess Attira 34, Betty McGinnis, reigned over the day's activities, which concluded with an evening dance at Peony Park where awards were presented for the best floats in the parade.

HOMECOMING

PRINCESS LINDA

Homecoming '68

With a Spanish theme, the University of Nebraska at Omaha held its 1968 homecoming. Festivities began Thursday night with a bonfire, a pep rally and the crowning of the 1968 Homecoming Princess, Linda Lindamood. Also highlighting the evening were the introduction of Homecoming candidates and the UNO football team. The cheerleaders, Ipmauoos and Indiannes led a pep rally in anticipation of the Homecoming Game Saturday between UNO and Washburn. Thursday night's festivities were climaxed by a gigantic bonfire which marked the beginning of Homecoming. ABOVE: Sorority sisters congratulate 1968 Homecoming Princess, Linda Lindamood. LEFT: Carol Molsbee entertains spectators at Thursday night Homecoming festivities. RIGHT: Student Council President Randy Owens introduces Homecoming Princess, Don Darling?

Highlights

A Spanish lunch, a car bash, intramural sports and the Homecoming Dance highlighted Friday's Homecoming activities. The Homecoming Dance was held in the Bullfight ring at the Civic Auditorium as UNO students danced to the music of The Rumbles. Saturday, UNO's Indians added more excitement to the festivities with their victory over Washburn. A concert by singer Bobby Vinton capped UNO's 1968 Homecoming. BELOW: Cheerleader Clark Rudeen and Ouampi Lloyd Roitstein cheer UNO Indians on to a 47-0 victory. RIGHT: Singer Bobby Vinton captivates UNO students at Homecoming concert. LEFT: Car bash sponsored by Alpha Epsilon Pi was just one of the many activities of UNO's '68 Homecoming.

Suzanne Giller Is UNO's Top Coed

Twenty-one-year old Suzanne Giller is UNO's Top coed and entrant in the Glamour magazine national run-off. She was selected from about 30 contestants chosen by college deans and heads of large departments. The contest was sponsored by the Home Economics Club and Waakiya.

Tomahawk Beauty Contest

Junior Prom

Judy Houchin was the queen of the 1968 Junior Prom held last March. Judy won her title in balloting among the Junior class, and was crowned at the dance.

Campus Entertainment

The Student Union Board was responsible for providing several entertainment nights for UNO students. The Irish Rovers were featured at one of these nights, held at the Civic Auditorium Music Hall.

SPORTS

Conference Games Easy for Caniglia's Gridders

The Indians reigned number one in the Central Inter-collegiate Conference this season with a 4-5 mark. Scouts from all of the major football leagues were in the press box every week, observing the games for players worthy of providing talent of professional caliber. Coach Al Caniglia and his staff's fine ability directing the Indians cannot be overlooked.

NAIA Tournament, Record Season Boost Indian Wrestling Interest

Indian wrestlers boasted their best season record ever with a 14-1 mark and a second place finish in the Colorado State Invitational and a third in the Rocky Mountain Conference tournament. In March, the school hosted the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletic's wrestling tournament which fielded 86 teams and over 400 wrestlers. Curlee Alexander, Roy Washington and brother Mel Washington led a second place finish by UNO next to Adams State, the defending champion. Indian Coach Don Benning was elected NAIA Coach of the Year by tourney coaches.

Indian Cagers Lose 16, Coach

Disappointment marked the end of the basketball season, with a 7-16 record. Despite efforts of high scorers John Mackey, Leonard Todd and Steve Kupcho, the Indians were unable to better their record. The Indians were able to take 2nd in the Wayne State Holiday Tournament. Submitting his resignation at the end of the season, Coach Jim Borsheim leaves after eight campaigns on the Omaha campus, with a compiled 73-103 record.

And So On...

Dan Klepper, offensive guard for the Indians, was selected a member of the first team National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics All-American after the season. Klepper, a 6-3, 245-pound graduate of Omaha South completed his eligibility this season and was drafted in the ninth round of the pro football draft by the Kansas City Chiefs. Jean Arringdale, a senior, was selected queen of the 1968 College World Series in June. Fred Gerardi inherited one of the toughest jobs on campus when he replaced Mike Moran as Sports Information Director in September. Gerardi had a big hand in organizing the National Wrestling Tournament.

Belles, Beaus Lead Cheers For Indians

The University of Nebraska at Omaha cheerleading squad consists of eight attractive, energetic coeds and four exuberant males. Together they produce enough cheers to give any team with low spirits the will to win.

Rainouts Mar Indian Chances for Success

For head baseball Coach Virgil Yelkin's young team it wasn't a matter of beating opposition last season but a matter of beating the weather. Bugged down by transient storms, the hurlers were washed off the practice field, out of games and out of a comparable 1967 record of 22-7. Ten of Yelkin's regular season games were rained out, dropping the 1968 record to 13-8. Laced with rookies and injuries to the starting line-up, the Indians stumbled through their schedule against such stiff competition as Oklahoma City University and Phillips University. Never daunted, the Indians came back, coasting into the CIC Tournament on strong defensive play. Ahead of the pack in the double elimination tourney, the hurlers battled their way to the finals against District 10 champion Emporia. Needing two wins the Hornets stung the OU nine in the first of a double header, 5-3, then came back to wash the Indians out of the CIC Championship. The year wasn't all heartaches for the talented coach, however. Yelkin was selected to manage the United States Baseball Federation team at Mexico. Yelkin, who is in his twenty-first season as head mentor for the Indians garnered similar honors the summer of 1967. Traveling to Winnipeg, Manitoba, Yelkin managed the United States entry in the Pan American games.

Track, Cross Country

Coach Lloyd Cardwell's track and cross country teams enjoyed better than average success. The track team finished fourth in the CIC championships but managed several second place finishes in the indoor and outdoor season. Cardwell's harriers notched a 6-4 mark and ran in the NAIA District 11 tournament in Elmwood Park.

Intramural Program Offers Wide Variety

Intramurals, open to all men and women carrying at least six hours, may not exhibit the talent that is present on the varsity field but certainly there is as much enthusiasm. Students may compete in a wide variety of sports including curling, knee football, badminton, archery, tennis and bowling as well as football and basketball. The program is directed by Bert Kurth for the men and Miss Connie Claussen for the women.
